There are three things necessary for the attainment of eternal life: the pardon of our sins, the victory over temptations, and the crown of all graces, a holy death. It was for this reason that the Saints yearned for their heavenly home, consumed as they were with an ardent love for God. Where, my soul, thy sense, thy reason?

Compiled by Jerald Franklin Archer. Thou knowest all, save how to love. As a third and powerful motive for hope in God, we have the merits of Jesus Christ. Indeed, when the heathens were told of the death of Jesus Christ they regarded it as a fable and called it an incredible folly, as St.

Far from praising themselves or taking pleasure in hearing themselves praised you ought to cry, being neglected by your very own creatures whom you love so much! Others, on the contrary, whose conscience is lax and not well-informed, think that evil thoughts and desires, though consented to, are not sins provided they are not followed by sinful actions.
