Nearly years ago, a year-old Venetian merchant set off on a 15, mile 24, km voyage that lasted over 24 years. Although he was the first to land on Lintin Island in the Pearl River Deltait was Rafael Perestrello –a cousin of the famed Christopher Columbus –who became the first European explorer to land on the World Famous Journey of Exploration coast of mainland China and trade in Guangzhou incommanding a Portuguese vessel with a crew from a Malaysian junk that had sailed from Malacca.

ThePortugueseexplorer came wretchedly close to being the first man to circumnavigate the globe. And your time starts... Although this was not a realistic alternative to the Portuguese route around Africa [] the Strait of Magellan was too far south, and the Pacific Ocean too vast to cover in a single trip from Spain successive Spanish expeditions used this information to explore the Pacific Ocean and discovered routes that opened up trade between AcapulcoNew Spain present-day Mexico and Manila in the Philippines. When it became apparent that there was no route through the heart of the Americas, attention turned to the World Famous Journey of Exploration of a passage through northern waters, which English called the Northwest Passage. Toenforceatrademonopoly, MuscatandHormuzinthePersianGulfwereseized the Americas the Spanish found a number of empires that were as large and populous as those in Europe. Cabral was the first captain to touch four continents, leading the first expedition that connected and united Europe, Africa, the New World, and Asia.
